EXAM EXEMPTION REQUESTS

Students will have the opportunity to request Semester 2 Exam Exemptions on Tuesday, May 14th, in their Bible class. The grades in teacher gradebooks on Monday, May 13th, at 7:45 AM will be the grades used to determine exam exemption eligibility. Grades entered after that date will not factor in when determining exam exemption eligibility. Students absent from their Bible class on Tuesday, May 14th, will have the opportunity to request exam exemptions when they return to school.

CO-PUBLISHED AN ARTICLE IN THE CHESTERTON REVIEW

Our CCHS Faculty represent a wide range of backgrounds, interests, and talents. CCHS faculty member Mr. Anthony Gannaio has recently co-published an article in The Chesterton Review (Fall/Winter 2023) entitled, "G.K. Chesterton and Christopher Dawson: On Conversion and the Relationship Between Christ and Culture." The Chesterton Review, founded in 1974, has been widely praised for both its scholarship and the quality of its writing. The article explores how two famous Christian writers, G.K. Chesterton and Christopher Dawson, took different postures toward the increasingly secular cultures of their day. Mr. Gannaio teaches Latin at CCHS and describes his research interests as the intersection of philosophy, history, Christian theology, and literature.

SGA LEADERS

Recently, students in grades 9 – 11 elected student government officers for the 2024-25 school year. Students desiring to serve in leadership submitted applications to serve in the school's Student Government Association (SGA) for next year. Those approved to run for an elected SGA office began posting campaign posters and flyers on Monday, April 15th. The campaign concluded on Friday with students giving campaign speeches and asking their classmates to vote for them for the SGA officer position they were seeking. After the campaign speeches, the voting was opened to students in grades 9 – 11 to choose their candidates for 2024-25 SGA leadership. Congratulations to the following students who received the most votes from their classmates to serve as officers in CCHS' Student Government Association.
